Telegraphie Summary-Election of United States Senators.

Several of the State Legislatures now in session are charged with the duty of electing United States Senators, which circumstance attracts more than usual of the public attention towards the proceedings of those henorable bodies.

We have already announced the re-election of Mr. Mason, of Virginia, and Mr. Bright, of Indiana-both democrats. The re-election of Mr. Yulee, (dem.) of Florida, is also probable, by the Legislature of that State, now in session. In California, the defeat of Colonel Fremont (dem.) is more than probable, according to the last accounts from that State.

It will be seen, by our account of the proceedings of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, that Richard Brodhead (democrat) has been elected United States Senator for six years, from March next, to succeed Dr. Sturgeon, of the same politics, who has represented the State for two Senatorial terms. Mr. Brodhead represented the Northampton district in the House of Representatives, in the twentyninth and thirtieth Congress. He is a thorough democrat, favorable to a moderate protective tariff. and opposed to the abolitionists in every shape. He will, Joubtless, make a good Senator. Pennsylvania will, therefore, continue to be represented. as at present, by a whig and democrat in the Senate, both tariff men.

In Missouri, the attempts to elect a Senator to succeed Mr. Benton, it appears, have proved unsuccessful, the Legislature being divided into three parties, viz., whig, Benton, and anti-Benton. It is impossible to predict the result with any confi dence, but we cannot perceive any prospects of the re-election or Mr. Benton, the whigs and anti-Ben ton parties having nearly two-thirds of the Legisla ture on joint ballot.

In Massachusetts, the coalition of democrats and tree soilers, which had been successful in the choice of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Councillers, and State officers, have thus far failed to elect a Sepater of the United States to succeed Mr. Winthrop, several democrats having refused to vote for the favorite of the free soilers, Charles Sumner, a free soil whig. As the free soilers insist upon his election as part of the bargain between the contracting parties, a failure on the part of the demo erats will doubtless cause a breach that will not easily be healed. The Boston Post, and some other democratic presses in Massachusetts, take a decided stand against the coalition.

In Ohio, no choice of Senator had been even attempted, by our last accounts from Columbus, the damocrats and whigs both refusing to coalesce with the free soilers, who hold the balance of power in the Legislature. In New Jersey, the contest will be close and doubtful for a Senator to succeed Mr. Dayton, (whig) The democrats have a majority of only tice in the Assembly, and the Senate is equally divided. Com. Stockton, Mr. Thomson (democratic eandidate for Governor in 1844), Mr. E. V. B. Wright, and Stacy B. Potts, are named as candi-

In Delaware, a democrat will doubtless be chosen, to succeed Mr. Wales, one of the present whig

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL'S REPORT .- We put lish, in another column, the annual report of the Adjutant General of the militia of this State, prepared by order of the gentleman who has just retired from that station, Samuel Stevens, Esq. It exhibits a very meagre account of the doings of the militia organization of this State; and if nothing more has been accomplished by this arm of our national and State defence than what is thus communicated officially, under oath of commission and office, then we apprehend the sooner the Adjutant General's office becomes abolished by the Legislature, the better for the interests of the State. Where can be the necessity of supporting a general and his clerk, at salaries of nearly two thousand dollars a year, stationery, postage, printing, and other expenses, amounting to as much more, and surrendering one of the most spacious and convenient rooms in the capitol for an office, which is so much wanted for important public business? We respectfully suggest to the Legislature, whether it would not be an excellent policy to abolish the office of Adjutant General, and transfer the very small duty which, it seems, is now performed by its two incumbents, to the private secretary of the Commander-in-Chief.

In relation to the receipt of commutation moneys. we had that the city of New York and county of Richmond, comprising the first division, contributed the sum of $14,684 36, and that there has been expended for military purposes, under the direction of the Board of Officers, the sum of $7,998 57, leaving in the hands of the Receiver of Taxes an amount of $6,626 13, subject to the order of the Board in 1851. No portion of the sum of $59 66, collected in Richmond county, remains in the hands of the county treasurer, the whole having been withdrawn. In the year 1848, being the first year when the commutation fund was reported by the Adjutant General, there was collected in forty four counties, exclusive of New York, the sum of $21,826. The present report for 1850, shows an aggregate obtained in forty-eight counties, including New York, of $39,423, showing an increase in two years in the other counties, of $2,912. Many of the counties

Ontario, and a few others, where it is probable more active and stringent measures were taken by the officers to enforce the provisions of the present militia laws.

It has been a subject of much remark at the War Department at Washington, and often wondered at by military men in this State, why Pennsylvania and Ohio should furnish a larger quota of militia in their annual returns to the President of the United States than New York, when it is so well known that the population of our State heavily exceeds each of those States. It is perceived that the returns to the Adjutant General's office for the year 1850, show an increase of strength, over 1848, of 46,116 and over 1849 of 31,045. This increase is obtained by the continued activity of the subalterns and noncommissioned officers, detailed in warning orders. We are still far short of an enumeration of our real force; if correctly reported, our strength would number full 300,000 militia in the State of New York; and it is very desirable for the people, that the entire force should be reported at the War Department at Washington, as upon the numbers thus reported, is issued to this State its annual quota of arms from the general government.

CHARGES OF SMUGGLING.—The recent seizure at Boston, by the Custem House authorities, of the British steamship Niagara, has caused much discussion in commercial circles. On Monday last, by an arrangement between Mr. Lunt, a United States District Attorney, and Mr. Whiting, the attorney of the agent for the trustees of the British North American Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, the vessel was appraised at two hundred and seventy thousand dollars, and the agent himself, Mr. S. S. Lewis, and Capt. Leitch were received as bondsmen, when the steamer was released from

It appears that fifty packages, containing silks, satins, and laces, valued at five thousand dollars, were found in the boat and in possession of one Joseph Dolliver, boatman, of East Boston, who has been arrested, and an account of whose examination yesterday will prove interesting, as he is charged with infringing the laws of the United States, for the purpose of defrauding the revenue. The ship's butcher, Robert Brownlow, has fled to parts unknown, thus arousing the suspicion that he was engaged in the illegal business.

Having thus stated the facts, we are prepared, in connection with the records of the examination, to form an opinion that clears the owners of the vessel, or the officers of it, of any participation in this very serious infraction of the laws established for the protection of the revenue; yet there have been so many foreign goods, especially satins, silks and velvets, smuggled through our ports during the past year, that every honest merchant must rejoice in the detection of any act which may tend to alarm those who are engaged in such business. There have been many such transactions, we have reason to believe, in this city, and within a few menths, which have escaped the authorities; but, being now put upon their guard, they may take such measures as will effectually secure the public from these dishonest practices, which not only defraud the government, but are ruinous to the business of honorable merchants. A strict enforcement of the penalties, in the Boston case, will go far towards curing the evil; but there will still be a necessity for uncommon alacrity upon the part of the Custom House officers all along the coast, to terminate a trade which has too long existed with this merning's Herald the first annual report of Brigadier General Daniel Lee, Commissary General of this State. It was communicated to the Legislature on the 10th instant, and contains a tolerably full statement of the military establishmen of the State.

Under the law of the last session, the General has succeeded in disposing of several of the tot-tering and dilapidated gua houses, called ar-senals—one still remaining unsold at Malone, Franklin county. He has also disposed of a num-ber of old rusty cannon, which should have been melted twenty-five years ago; and the Legislature should at once empower him to sell every piece of ordnance, musket, rifle, pistol, sword, scabbard, and cartouch box of antiquity, which are now, and have been, for a quarter of a century, lumbering the arsenals. The General truly says—they are much decayed, daily depreciating in value, and will soon become worthless. We would advise the State to authorise the General to sell them, even if they were used in the invasion of Cuba, or em-The people will regret to learn that the present

Commissary General is comp led to ask for an additional appropriation, to come ete the new arsenal in the Fifth avenue. The history of the construction of this establishment is disgraceful to the State, or at least to some of its late agents. The project was, no doubt, entered into from the purest and best of motives; but it has met with more misfortunes, from its conception to the present moment, than any other public or private building on Maphattan Island.

INTERESTING FROM MERICO,-We have received, vis Havana, news from Mexico to the 17th ult., and from Vera Crus to the 21st. It appears that, on searching the fugitive, a clasp knife, with a spring back, was found in his possession, and it is supposed that it must have been conveyed to him by some perlocal legislature in Richmond, congratulated the marshals on having successfully conveyed back to the South "the olive branch;" and said that they were satisfied, from the course which had been pursued, that New York would do everything in its power to maintain its relations with its Southern sister States. Doctor Parker has, we understand, written to Doctor Smith, the owner of Long, to ask whether he will sell him or not. It is thought that the abolitionists of this city, who made such an untiring resistance to the claim of Doctor Smith, will, now that the law has decided against them, purchase Long from bondage and send him forth to the world, what they endeavored to prove him, a free man. It is, however, said that Doctor Parker has expressed himself to the effect that, to sell Long to the abolitionists would be injurious to perspective freedom to all slaves in the South, and induce many of them, who are now content, to abscond

ANNIVERSARY OF FRANKLIN'S BIRTH DAY .- The anniversary of Benjamin Franklin's birth-day will fall on Priday pext, and will be celebrated in an appropriate manner by numerous typographical societies through-out the country. Preparations are being made in all quarters for this object; and from what we hear and read, the day will be more generally celebrated than it ever was. The arrangements made for the grand banquet and literary exercises in this city, are nearly completed. Judge Edmonds will deliver the oration, and among the invited guests will be G. P. R. Mercantile Library Association

Last evening was held the annual meeting of the Mercantile Library Association. The attendance was good, though the building was not crowded. Rarely has an annual meeting passed off more quietly and harmoniously.

On the motion of the President, Mr. Charles King. President of Columbia College, was called to the chair. Mr. King, in accepting the honor, said he had himself been brought up a merchant's clerk, and was thereproject could have been devised for the advancement of the welfare of the class for which it was intended. It had done great good, and it was capable of doing more good. It began when there was no such library as it now possesses, and it has progressed till now the number of volumes is augmented to 30,000. Nor have these volumes been barren—they have been called for again and again by intelligent readers, who studied them diligently. There is no character entitled to more respect than the well informed merchant. He exercises an influence far more beneficial than the mere politician, though the latter is supposed to be the mover of the great events of the country. The merchants when they please, can accomplish whatever they please that is right, and for the public good. It is to the merchants that we ought to look for the first move in all good things; for it we do, we shall not look in vain. Much of the past success of the Association is due to the merchants, and much of its future success will also depend on them. Mr. King concluded by thanking the meeting for the honor conferred upon him. volumes been barren-they have been called for again

The minutes of the meeting of last year were then read by Mr. Ogden, and adopted.

The same gentleman then read the following report of the Treasurer, which was unanimously accepted:

The report then enumerated some valuable and rare works among the purchases of the year. In the course of the year the iion Luther Bradish presented the Association, on behalf of Mr. Robert Lenox then absent in Europe a copy of the original of Washington's address, as it came from the hands of the iiiuntious author. The report states that there is a want of accommodation, in point of room for the books, the most valuable works being stowed away into obscure corners. 12 American, and 7 foreign daily journals, 15 American and 9 foreign weeklies, 29 American, and 36 foreign monthlies; and 14 American, and 10 foreign quarterizes, are regularly received, making a total of 131 periodicals; an increase of 22 since last year. An individual had been found guilty of thest during the year, and expelled. The reading room should be the first in the city, but with the present accommodation, they were "cribbed, cabined and confined. The cabinet contains 1.200 specimens of minerals and sholls.

The lectures of the year were interesting and welt attended; but would have been better attended if there had been a more commodicus room. 147 members joined the eleven classes in Spanish, German elecution, penmanschip, bookkeeping, phonography, gymnatics—exceeding by forty eight the numbers in 1849. The Treasurer reports in his possession, belonging to this found, $128.89; there is in the Savings Bank, to its credit, $202.25; making a total of $531.24. The schoolerships in the gitt of the Association, are held by the foilowing gentlemen.—Columbia College—Mr. H. Wellman, in the Saving class; Mr. R. Vincent, in the Freshman class. University—Robert Dument, and Mr. H. F. Smith. The trustees of Clinton Hall Association were not yet decided as to the propriety of changing the location. They placed the new shelving in the reading room, and evinced a disposition to enlarge the accommodations as far as was in their power.

The report was unanimously adopted.

A letter was thear read from Mr. Charles Raiph, in rejation te the form left a wife and children behind him and it was suggested that the astociation should do senthing for them.

A committee of five, namely, Charles Raibh Isaac H. Baily, Roswell E. Lockwood. T. Spencer Kirby, and Charles A. Milner, were appointed to collect subscriptions for Mrs. S. and children.

Mr. Gravron moved that a list of all defaulters of three months be printed, with the annual report.

An amendment was moved, that the time be extended to six months.

Another amendment was moved, that the time be extended to a year; and the mover said he thought two years would be still better.

Here there were load cheers for three months, six months, and a year.

The medium period of six months was adopted by the meeting.

A complimentary resolution in reference to Mr. Philip Home was adopted, expressing regret for his absence from the meeting.

A Manner complained that it be referred to the directors to inquire into the expediency of closing the library at eight o'clock

The motion was adopted.

A Manner complained that the books in the library had been enclosed with net work from the members, and he moved that the net work from the members, and he moved that the net work from the members, and he moved that the net work from the members, and he moved that the net work be removed, and that no more wire work be put up.

Mr. Bayaup, the President, said—The books thus protected, were books which it was intended to remove up stairs. They were rare and valuable, and it was necessary to guard against their loss. It was not the members that he dreaded but those who intruded themselves as members, but were not. The only consistent course to follow: if that resolution wereadopted, was to throw the whole library open to the public.

It was then meved to lay the motion on the table, which was adopted.

A vote of thanks was then moved to the chairman, and carried unanimously.

which was adopted. A vote of thanks was then moved to the chairman, and carried unanimously.

Mr. Kino said in response, that he was glad to see the association so prosperous. It was well in finances, and well in books—be did not mean ledger books, but books which contained other calculations than figures. He had a great respect for figures, Arabic figures, which could not lie; but there were other truths in books for which he had a greater respect. Why should lawyers be for ever speaking the sentiments of merchants on all public occasions, instead of merchants themselves? Collegiate education was as necessary for a merchant as any other class of the community, and there was no ether discipline better adapted to fit him for a mercantile calling.

A vote of thanks was then passed unanimously to the Precident and other retiring officers.

A unanimous vote of thanks was then passed to Mr. Stout, the Treasurer, and a high compliment paid to him by Mr. Kirby, in a short speech.

The Chairman then introduced Professor Henry to the meeting.

A unanimous vote of thanks was then passed to mr. Stout, the Treasurer, and a high compliment paid to him by Mr. Kirby, in a short speech.

The Charman then introduced Professor Henry to the meeting.

Mr. Henny's name was received with applause, and he said his impulse was to have said one single word expressive of the deep sense of gratification he felt to see se many bright faces before him, who had come there for other calculations than those of money it had been ever true, and was now true, and ever would be true, that the stream of the world's history would tollow in the course of commerce. Within the last two years they had obtained a tract of land on the Pacific, the effect of which would be to render this city the metropolis of the world (Loud cheers). The commerce of the East, which once went round by the Cape of Good Hops, would be brought by railroad or ship canal to New York, which would thus become the entreport of all nations. As one accustomed to meditate on historical causes, he believed in his soul that some of those whom he now addressed would live to see the day that New York would be to London, what London, is now to Liverpool (Cheers) Here the exchanges of the world would be settled. If he might be allowed to quote his own words, "Europe and Asia are desfined to shake hands with each other across this American continent." (Cheers) This result would change the commerce of the world, and political and social changes would fellow in the history of all humanity. The time was come when an American epoch had begun—when the destinies of the world centre in New York. If this be the case, what a sublime thought it was, that here were young men cultivating their faculties and preparing themselves for the great destiny that awaited them?

Mr. Bainey was then loudly called for, and said it would not be doing justice either to himself or to them to treapase on them after the eloquence they had listened to. He would only say that he hoped they would meet in a fitter building at the beginning of the next al-action.

The committee in favor of the "nnion ticket" adjourned to Stoneall's after the meeting was over, and have taken measures to hold a meeting of their own on Monday evening.

BOSBY MARKET.

TUESDAY, January 14-6 P. M. There was no new feature in the stock market today. Prices were well maintained, but the transactions were limited. Holders of fancy stocks generally have to sustain the market, so that they can gradually work off what they have on hand. All the old houses in the esreet are selling out, any way to suit the class of buyers now coming in, and any turn in the market, made their appearance with any force, and the parties engaged in conering operations are evidently dismarket. But for the foresight of the bears, prices for most of the leading fancies would have ruled much higher. The Eric corner has doubtless reached its culminating point, and holders must look for a market out of the street for their stock. They have let the market down several times to induce the bears to sell, but the movement did not work as anticipated, and the large speculators have been left just where we predicted, in the lurch. At the first board, to-day, United States 6's advanced % per cent; Hudson River Railroad Bonds, second mortgage, %; Stonington, 1; Morris Canal, %; Reading Bailroad, %; Long Island, %; Canton Company, %; Farmers' Loan, %; North American Trust, 1/4; Norwich and Worcester, 1/4. Erie Railroad declined 1 per cent. There was a more active demand for government and State stocks, and the sales were larger than usual. All is uncertainty yet about the Harlem Railroad dividend. The corapany having paid two semi-annual dividends on the old stock or two per cent each, may continue them, even if th money has to be borrowed for that purpose. Holders of the stock on speculation are of course anxious for a dividend, no matter where the money comes from. and twould not surprise us, or any one else acquainted with the manner meet of our incorporated companies declare dividends, if even a larger per cent than has been talked of, should be paid on the 1st of February. The receipts at the office of the Assistant Treasure of this port, to-day, amounted to $152,463 37. Pay-ments $37,462 84. Balance, $2,543,646 39.

The Pennsylvania and Ohio Canal Company have declared a dividend of 2% per cent; the Louisville Bank a semi annual dividend of 4% per cent; the Kentucky Bank a semi-annual dividend of 4% per cent, and an extra dividend of 2 per cent; the North ern Bank of Kentucky a semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent, and the Minehill Railroad a dividend of 7 per cent.

The tenth instalment of five dellars per share of the dollars per share of the subscription of 1850, to the capital steck of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

will be due on the 1st of February, proximo.

The Governor of Mississippi, in his message to the Legislature of that State, gives a very favorable account of the public finances. On the 1st of October, 1850, there was in the treasury the sum of $488 194 50 But the revenue for the two years ending October 1st 1850 was $520,735 20; and it is estimated that the revenue for the next two years, if there be no change in the present laws, will not fall short of $650,800. The amount of taxable property in the State is set down at $79,456,547 97; of which the assessed value of lands is $31,512,391 77; of town lots, $22,441,468; of slaves. $17,772,186; and other personal property, $7,731,508 20.

The State debt is $956,261, but from this are to be deducted $272,263 30, the amount of State stock in th bank, the interest on which is paid by, and the bank is reconsible for, the principal, and a further sum of $33,009 to-leaving the actual indebtedness of the State $649 908 10. During the present year, $265.261 of this debt will fall due, and which has to be provided for by the Legislature. The Governor proposes a reganization of the bank, and the adoption of such measures as will entirely sever it from the State. To accomplish this, he recommends that some inducements be offered to private individuals to buy out the State stock in the bank, and an extension of the bank charter.
